

10 reasons why it's time you had a website

10

01 Promote yourself

Promote your products and services using images, videos, and even testimonials from happy clients.

02 Sell yourself

Literally! Listing your company's products and services may encourage clients to purchase from you online.

03 Brand yourself

A unique website design helps differentiate you from your competitors. Make sure you stand out from the crowd.

04 Reach new markets

The world wide web is exactly that- open to the world! Websites help businesses open themselves up to a global market.

05 Be there 24/7

No more 9 to 5. A website keeps your business in the spotlight 24/7, allowing you to advertise both day and night.

06 Instantly inform

Got a new product out, or running a special offer? Let your customers know instantly with an updatable website.

07 Reward clients

Manage relationships with your customers and maintain your client base with special offers and competitions.

08 Publicise Events

Visiting a trade fair? Holding an open day? Let people know about it by publicising it on your website - keep your clients informed.

09 Get found

Get found by more prospective customers by having a website. People expect you to have one.

10 Make friends

Link your website to social media networks like Facebook and Twitter to keep clients informed and up to date.
